

Dear Mr. Campbell, Mr. Thompson and everyone else at the Never Forgotten Honor Flight,

I just wanted to thank you again for everything you did for my Grandfather. Since he's been home, my Grandmother has e-mailed me several times telling me that he won't stop talking about the Honor Flight and that it was the best experience in his life. He really, really enjoyed it. My cousin shot a video of him getting off the plane and he was so excited and overwhelmed by the welcome he didn't know where to look. He told me that he got more mail during mail call then he did in all 21 months he was in the army. I think that it really helped him, especially because it helped him forget have an enjoyable experience before he gets too sick. He also really liked the book which you gave him on the WWII Memorial and had me buy two different ones from Amazon on the Korean Memorial because he wasn't sure which one we would like better.

During the trip, Mr. Thompson had mentioned that you might need help on the next Honor Flight. Please keep me updated if you still need the help as the flight approaches. I would love to help, I just can't guarantee that I can come right now. That week is our mid-terms, and, while I don't have a class, I have not yet received my mid-term schedule to know when I have to sit for exams. If I don't have an exam, I would really like to help if you need the help. One last thing, is there anyway I could get Sargent Skywalker's contact information? I would like to send him a thank you as well. Talking with him was a really special experience my grandfather really enjoyed.

Thank you again for everything!

Sincerely,
Ali Happli
