Dear Roseanne,

Honor Flight
NETWORK

I still have more notes to answer from Honor Flight well wishers. However I had best was no longer to express my gratitude to my guardian angel.

It was a wonderful, overwhelming experience. My senses were bombarded with wonderful memories. I will never forget the solemnity of some occasions such as the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown and the wheelchair procession along with the photo in memory of your father-in-law at The World War II Memorial.

I marveled at the way you went aloft on the bus left to assist disabled vets - it was a delight to become acquainted with your brothers and their spouses along with your husband.

Jan and I talk frequently about the day. When I relate to others, I find I have a personal story to tell about each stop. The World War II Memorial is the most grand and imposing. However, I am surprised

By how many folks were most moved by the stark reality of the Korean War Memorial. My grade school grandnephew visited the Memorial at night and says it is his favorite.

I have urged a former boss, two service buddies and two brother-in-law to fill out an application.

Your dedication along with the other guardians, volunteers, board members, school children and others is so inspiring. The expression of appreciation from all those associated with the Honor Flight changes how one views the world - for the Better!

Thank you is so inadequate for all you have done and continue to do.

My best
Don
