

Dear friend of the Never Forgotten Honor Flight,

“Cut him, and he’ll bleed Honor Flight.” That is how I describe Co-founder and VP of Marketing Jim Campbell. Jim demonstrates unwavering commitment to the Honor Flight cause. Jim first learned about the Honor Flight at a luncheon in early 2009 with Stars and Stripes Founder and IBM colleague Joe Dean. Embracing the mission wholeheartedly, Jim worked with Mike Thompson to found the Never Forgotten Honor Flight on Veteran’s Day 2009.

As the prominent “face” of the NFHF, Jim has become deeply involved in the veterans’ communities across our 13 counties, serving as a reliable resource for numerous veteran-focused activities.

As VP of Marketing, Jim consistently puts our Honor Flight hub in the spotlight throughout the region. To date, he has delivered 274 presentations, raising significant funds to provide veterans with “the trip of a lifetime.” Jim manages emails and phone calls for NFHF daily. And if that’s not enough, Jim keeps our website current. Check out Jim’s work at www.neverforgottenhonorflight.com.

Jim is a Marine of the Vietnam era. (I’ve learned not to say “...was a Marine.”) He can identify with the veterans on our flights, and knows how to help when one needs some support.

To say that Jim is colorful is an understatement. When we’re working together, I feel like I’m the play-by-play guy and he’s the color commentator. Jim’s persona is larger than life, and so is his influence. Jim has been a powerful force in promoting the Honor Flight, and as a result, we are known and supported throughout the region.

It’s a privilege to tell you about the members of our amazing NFHF board. And it’s a privilege to work with each of them.

Here’s a look at our scoreboard:
